I will have my students engage in discussion activities. First, I will have my students read newspaper articles on social topics, such as environmental issues. Then, I will have them exchange opinions with each other. If they have difficulties organizing their ideas in English, I will provide them with the necessary words and expressions, and scaffold them to use the target grammar they have learned. Also, I will instruct them to logically convey the information from what they read and present their own ideas to others. After the discussion, I will provide a writing task to summarize their opinions using worksheets.
